

New legislation regarding the installation of generators for the supply auxiliary power

HEDNO would like to inform all interested parties that:

In accordance with paragraph 7 of article 69 of L. 4602/19, the responsibility for providing certificates of exemption from the production license for cases of installation of generators for the auxiliary supply of power, is transferred from RAE to HEDNO.

As a result, from now on, HEDNO will be responsible for receiving and reviewing all applications for the installation of auxiliary power generators to ensure they meet all exemption criteria and for keeping the Special Exemptions Registry.

The application and review process will be determined by the competent Operator, it will be approved by RAE and it will be published on HEDNO's website.

The commencement of the implementation of this new framework will be announced on the company's website separately.
