Press Release

Innovative training for HEDNO employees

HEDNO offered a new innovative training experience to its employees, through the program "Business Administration Academy-HEDNO" which was created by the Human Resources Department of the Company in collaboration with the Athens University of Economics and Business. With multiple subjects and a wide range of disciplines, participants had the chance to attend the innovative program in an interactive way, both among themselves and with professors and speakers from the wider market.

The first and second courses of the program were successfully completed on Friday, May 5, 2023, while the last day of the Program began with two workshops – Case Studies and ended with an event to award Certificates of Attendance to the 40 participants.

HEDNO Chairman and CEO Mr. Anastasios Manos spoke at the award ceremony underlining the importance of Education and its critical contribution to the future of the Company and congratulating those who completed the program. Mr. Manos also thanks the Athens University of Economic and Business and the Human Resources Department for this successful collaboration. Then, the HEDNO BoD Chairman, Mr. Michalis Kefalogiannis, addressed a short greeting, followed by Mr. Anastasios Drakos (Associate Professor of AUEB and Head of the Program "Business Administration Academy- HEDNO") who spoke about the commitment and enthusiasm of the participants but also to the challenges of the venture which he assessed as fully successful, emphasizing the excellent cooperation of the two parties.
