

ANNOUNCEMENT

HEDNO would like to announce that since this morning, power supply has been cut off in Andros and Tinos due to damages in two transmission lines that ensure electricity supply for the two islands, due to the severity of weather.

PPC is currently attempting to re-operate the Autonomous Generation Unit in Andros in order to restore electricity supply as soon as possible on both islands.

All HEDNO and PPC workers are working hard to ensure that consumers will not experience further inconvenience.

More updates will follow regarding the restoration of power supply for both islands.
