

ANNOUNCEMENT

Works to restore electricity in the areas of Northern Greece due to bad weather conditions are continuing non-stop

The crews of HEDNO responded immediately in the early morning hours in order to restore, as soon as possible, extensive damages in the electricity Network which were caused by bad weather conditions that affected most areas in N. Greece and particularly the prefectures of Imathia, Chalkidiki, Serres and Xanthi,

Since this morning, more than 40 crews with a total number of 150 team members have started working hard to restore the damages in the Network due to snowfall and strong winds.

Until this hour, 80% of the areas have been reconnected to electricity and until this noon, we are expecting full restoration of all damages, excluding damages at the Network of the mountain part of Chalkidiki and some isolated minor damages whose restoration is expected within the day.

The Administration of HEDNO would like to warmly thank its employees for their immediate response and the huge efforts during this particularly difficult time for the country to respond immediately and effectively in order to fulfill their duties and asks all citizens for their understanding.
