

ANNOUNCEMENT

As part of the application of preventive measures for the protection of health of all employees and consumers against covid-19, HEDNO would like to announce that from 20.06.2020, we launched the test operation of thermal cameras at the entrance of Company buildings.

The body temperature measurement system is under test, until the completion of works for the installation of thermal cameras at all entrances/exits of the buildings of the Company.

Please note that the body temperature measurement system does not record and store any personal data nor does it run face recognition. The equipment is exclusively used for body temperature measurement and does not record and store face recognition data or information.

HEDNO would also like to note that all applicable measures - mask, antiseptics, regular disinfection etc. – continue to apply as per rules and in compliance with the instructions of the government in order to ensure that the environment is kept safe for all employees and consumers.
