

PRESS RELEASE

Certificate of Data and Information Security Management System

The first monitoring of HEDNO's Data and Information Security Management System which is ISO 27001:2013 certified by independent certification body EuroCert was successfully completed. After thorough checks at the facilities of HEDNO, it was found that there is full compliance with and strict implementation of the requirements outlined by the International Standard.

The compliance with the ISO 27001:2013 for HEDNO's Information Technology & Telecommunications Department is a significant advantage regarding the internal and external requirements for the completion of a large part of the projects of the Company for the next years which is also ensuring the safety and protection of its data and information.

Please note that HEDNO's Information Technology & Telecommunications Department was first certified with ISO 27001:2013 in October 2019 and as per the requirements of the standard, monitoring is taking place on an annual basis.

As part of the high standards for the services provided and their continuous improvement through digital transformation, the strategic target of HEDNO's Management is to intensify efforts and works for applying this certificate to more General Departments at the Company in order to certify more activities.
